The Sand Groomers of Opal Avenue

In 1954, John Vallely's dad offered him his first business opportunity: .25 cents to rake the beach in front of our family's boat, paddleboard and kayak rental business. That quarter bought a Three Musketeers bar, a nickel ferry ride to the Fun Zone and a few games of Skee-Ball. The beach had to be perfectly groomed before the rentals went out—my first lesson in hard work and responsibility. Today, I still rake the beach to keep it beautiful—and draw a heart in the sand for my wife. Island resident Larry Friday joined John nearly 8 years ago and the team keeps Opal beach on South Bayfront in pristine condition every day. Thanks guys!

A LETTER FROM THE BIIA PRESIDENT by Sue Pearl

Organizers Kimberly Worsnop, Georgie Fenton, Lee Pearl, Sue Pearl at the Flagpole Dedication Ceremony July 1st.

Dear Neighbors and Friends,

It's hard to believe that this is my final President's Letter. My term as President of the BIIA ends on December 31, 2026. I've had the pleasure of serving on the BIIA Board since January 2020—three years as Secretary, two years as Co-Vice President, and this year as President. Now I'm termed out! Our bylaws limit Board service to six years, so it's time for someone else to take the reins.

It has been quite a year for the BIIA. We've increased our membership by about 10%, and we've tried to stay focused on the things that matter most to our members and to the Island.

Back in January, we asked Island residents to take a survey and tell us what they thought our priorities should be. More than 200 people responded, and we heard loud and clear what was important to them. I was able to take those concerns to the Newport Beach City Council and continue working with City staff throughout the year.

We also wanted to spend more time with our members and find ways to bring people together. In April, we held our first Membership Appreciation Reception, which was a great chance to meet members and introduce them to the Board.

Member Appreciation Reception at the Village Inn

We had a wonderful Parade at the end of May, and on July 1 we dedicated our new flagpole on the Park Avenue median near Marine Avenue—just in time for America's 250th anniversary.

The Summer Concerts in the Park were a huge hit once again

Our Summer Concerts in the Park were a huge success, and we also enjoyed another wonderful season of Classical Concerts in the Chapel. During the summer concerts, we held three membership events and had some pretty great treats! A big thank-you to Sugar N' Spice for the Balboa Bars and frozen bananas, and to Gelatissimo and Gelato CDM for the delicious gelato.

Thanks Peter Klebanoff of Gelato Del Mar!

Dennis Bress showing Kenny Hale a few moves

On October 3 we held a Candidates Forum, giving Island residents an opportunity to hear directly from the candidates and learn more about their positions on issues that affect our community. We were very pleased to be able to provide this opportunity for our members and neighbors.

And the year isn't over yet! We still have two of our favorite Island traditions ahead of us—the Tree Lighting and Snow Day and, of course, our Annual Holiday Home Tour, which is also our biggest fundraiser of the year.

One of my personal goals this year was to make better use of technology and, hopefully, make joining the BIIA and renewing membership easier and less confusing, (see page 12 for more details). We've made some good progress, and I hope these changes will make it easier for the BIIA to stay connected with our members going forward.

When I look back on the past six years, I feel very lucky to have had the opportunity to be part of the BIIA Board. There are so many people who give their time to make the Island better, and it's been a pleasure working alongside them.

The BIIA really is a small but mighty organization, and it works because so many people care about Balboa Island.

We'll be electing new Directors and Officers soon. I've been recruiting new people to the Board and I think you'll be very happy with the additions.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve as your President. I've enjoyed every minute of it—and I'm not going anywhere! I'll still be around, just without the title of President.

Sue Pearl, President,
Balboa Island Improvement Association

The Story of:

Zara Fine Collections

The space was modest but there was something about it that stirred our imagination. We could see the shelves filled, the door opening, and visitors stepping in from the island streets. So, we rolled up our sleeves and began shaping this new seaside beginning with the same hope that had carried us from the very start.

In October 2013, we turned the key in the lock for the first time. We brought with us the lessons we had learned in Raleigh, the courage to begin again, and a collection of dreams that still felt tender, unfinished, and full of possibility.

We came to realize that Zara Fine Collections was never just about the Christmas ornaments, the hand-crafted jewelry, or the elegant accessories resting on the display tables. The shop was always about the people who walked through the door, the ones searching for a small object to hold a massive feeling, to anchor a quiet memory, or to say what words so often fail to express.

Every grand endeavor begins as a quiet, stubborn hope. In the beginning, Zara Fine Collections lived only in pencil—display table sketches, product wish lists, and imagined store layouts spread across notepad pages.

To give that dream shape, we took to the road—walking the aisles of High Point and the Atlanta gift market. Each artisan we met and piece we touched sharpened our vision: we were curating not just inventory, but the warmth we wanted guests to feel the moment they stepped inside.

That feeling needed a home, and in 2010, the first door swung open in Raleigh, NC.

A few years later, a vacation to Balboa Island gently pulled us in a new direction. The Pacific light, the unhurried rhythm of daily life, and the warmth of the close-knit community made it undeniable—our next chapter was waiting on the West Coast. It was one of those unexpected detours that life quietly hands you, reshaping everything you thought you had planned.

We still remember the way Balboa Island seemed to meet us at exactly the right moment. Just when we were beginning to imagine what another chapter might look like, we came upon a small shop with a quiet charm all its own. It felt less like something we had found and more like something that had been waiting for us.

Today, that realization remains our heartbeat. We don't simply sell fine gifts; we help weave moments of affection, gratitude, milestone celebrations, and gentle remembrance between human hearts. Because in the end, every item on our shelves is just a bridge—and the story of our shop has always been about connection.

Sincerely, Maggie & Sam

Holiday HOME TOUR WALKING

Sunday, December 13th
11:00-4:00

The 28th Annual Balboa Island Holiday Home Walking Tour is Sunday, December 13, 2026, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. It's a great excuse to get together with friends and spend a day on the island.

This year, six homes will open their doors for the tour. Each one has its own style, so you'll see everything from traditional Christmas trees and wreaths to creative holiday displays and festive tables. Take your time walking between homes, and enjoy the decorated cottages and waterfront views along the way. Comfortable shoes are a good idea!

Leave some time for Marine Avenue, too. Browse the shops for holiday gifts, stop for coffee or a meal, and pick up a Balboa Bar or frozen banana. The Royal Hen will once again host its Holiday Boutique Pop-Up, with gifts, snacks and refreshments.

It's a lovely way to enjoy the island with family and friends during the holidays. Tickets are on sale November 2nd at BIIA.org and at the following Balboa Island retailers: Crush and Sunny Days.

Tickets also available off island at: Seaside Gallery and Goods, Bliss Home Design, and Where's the Party.

Meet BIIA Board Member/Island Businessman Nick Ciuffetelli - A Chip off the old Block

I've spent much of my adult life collecting frequent flyer miles. Between living in Hawaii, traveling throughout Asia for a defense and security think tank, and later visiting businesses across the U.S. while working in financial technology, I got pretty good at life on the road. Eventually, though, I traded airport lounges for Balboa Island, which turned out to be a pretty good deal.

I was raised in Irvine and attended the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa. What was supposed to be a degree in marine biology turned into political science and almost a decade in Honolulu. After graduation, I joined the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS), a Washington, D.C.-based defense and security think tank, working with their Asia-Pacific program. This gave me the opportunity to travel extensively throughout Asia, an experience that broadened my perspective and fueled a lifelong appreciation for different cultures and ways of thinking.

After Hawaii, I moved to San Francisco and entered the world of financial technology as a Key Account Manager for Sunbit. Between that role and my previous work in Asia, I spent a good portion of my twenties in airports, hotels, and rental cars, visiting more than 30 countries and most states in the U.S. The experience was unforgettable, but it also gave me a deeper appreciation for home and eventually led me back to Orange County.

Three years ago, I returned to Orange County and joined Edward Jones as a Financial Advisor. In many ways, it feels like the career I was always meant to pursue. My father has been with Edward Jones for more than 25 years, and some of my earliest memories involve conversations about investing. I bought my first stock at age 11 and remember checking Intel's share price on Yahoo Finance every day after school.

Father/son trip to the High Sierras, Mike is also a resident of Balboa Island

Today, I work from my office on Marine Avenue, helping individuals, families, and businesses navigate the often-confusing world of personal finance and investing. What I enjoy most is helping people gain confidence and clarity about their financial future.

NICK - continued from 7

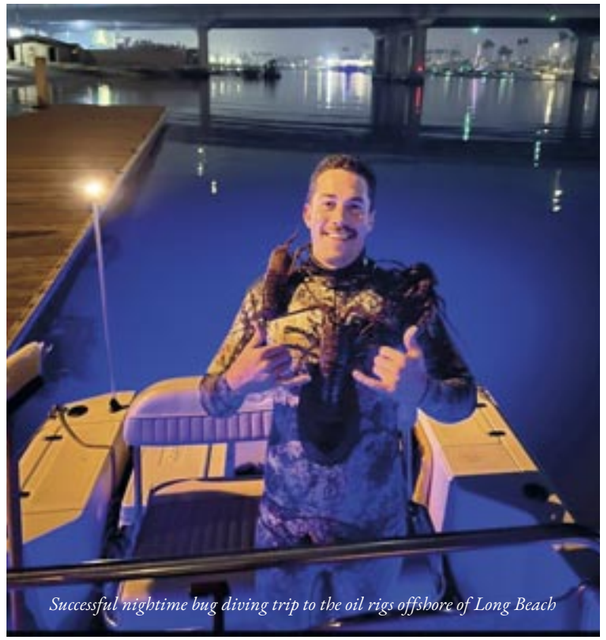
Personal finance is something most of us were never taught in school, yet we're expected to make some of life's biggest financial decisions without much guidance. It's incredibly rewarding when someone trusts me to help bridge that gap and work toward their goals.



Successful nightime bug diving trip to the oil rigs offshore of Long Beach

Outside of work, you'll usually find me outdoors. I enjoy fishing, spearfishing, hunting, and spending time on the water whenever possible. I used to own a boat, which taught me many lessons, including why having friends with boats is often a better arrangement. Every year, I also travel to New York for an annual deer hunting trip with my cousin, who is also an Edward Jones advisor.

My involvement with the BIIA began when Lee Pearl relentlessly knocked on my office door for a month... just kidding. In reality, I joined because I plan to be part of the Balboa Island community for a long time and wanted a way to contribute. One of my first contributions was suggesting a Member Appreciation Lounge during the Summer Concert Series. Before I could even finish explaining the idea, I was voluntold I'd be leading the committee. That experience taught me everything I needed to know about the BIIA: if you're willing to raise your hand and do the work, you can make a real impact.

I also serve on the Board of the Balboa Island Merchants Association, where we're focused on strengthening connections between local businesses and the community. I'm excited to help support our merchants, improve Marine Avenue, and contribute to the future of Balboa Island.

Pacific Marine Mammal Center

Pacific Marine Mammal Center, located in Laguna Beach, was founded in 1971 by two Laguna Beach lifeguards. As a 501(c)3 nonprofit, they rely on donations from the public, over 300 volunteers, and a team of 30 staff members. Their mission is to inspire ocean stewardship and conservation through rescue, rehabilitation, research, and education. PMMC's rescue response covers 42 miles of Orange County coastline, with numerous rescue operations occurring every year in Newport Beach.

They are the only stranding center in Orange County, California authorized to rescue and respond to sick, injured, or deceased, sea lions, seals, dolphins, whales, and sea turtles. PMMC says, "We are proud to serve our OC coastline and especially thankful for our partners and public in Newport Beach who help report stranded marine mammals to our rescue hotline, provide boat assistance for on-water operations, and help support releases. We couldn't be more excited to be featured in this year's exhibit at the Newport Beach Museum Balboa Island. We'd like to give a special shoutout and huge thanks to the incredible team at the Newport Museum for helping to share PMMC's history and mission with their visitors".

PMMC is a West Coast Region Stranding Network Partner of the national Marine Mammal Health & Stranding Response Program, authorized under the Marine Mammal Protection Act through a stranding agreement issued by NOAA Fisheries to respond to live stranded, sick, injured, out of habitat, or entangled marine mammals. Additionally, PMMC investigates deceased stranded marine mammals as they are important indicators of ocean, climate, & human health. If you see a sick or stranded marine mammal in OC, call PMMC's rescue hotline at 949-494-3050 ext. 9. Newport Harbor is Humming: — 2026 Update

— by Paul Blank

For Balboa Island residents, the Harbor Department's work is visible every day along the bayfront. Led by Harbormaster Paul Blank, its officers respond to more than 2,000 calls for service in a typical month while working to keep Newport Harbor clean, safe and enjoyable.

Keeping the water clean has meant responding to fuel and hydraulic fluid spills, removing hazardous materials from public docks and expanding routine checks to a fourth trash skimmer. With help from CERT volunteers, the department's trash rover continues to collect floating debris. In May, an officer spotted a discharge into Promontory Bay, traced it to a storm drain and alerted landside Code Enforcement to investigate. Following recent dredging, one waterfront resident reported in June that harbor water clarity was the best she had seen in more than a decade.

Managing docks and boating activity is another daily responsibility. The department has issued violations for noise and unauthorized use of public docks by commercial charter operators. A repeat illegal charter case led to an arrest in June. New plaques identify each public dock cleat, helping officers document where boats tie up and enforce time limits. Staff have also surveyed the Grand Canal for compliance with pier and mooring limits—work of particular interest to island waterfront residents.

A major change came on June 1, when the Harbor Department took over management of Balboa Yacht Basin's slips and garages. The transition followed more than three years of planning and is expected to save the city over $175,000 annually while maintaining service for tenants.

Rental boat safety remains a growing priority. The Harbor Commission is considering a city-produced safety video, quiz and certification process for customers renting small vessels for a single day. For residents who see inexperienced boaters navigating the channels near their homes, better preparation could make a welcome difference.

Looking ahead, the Harbor Commission's 2026 objectives include harbor regulations, infrastructure, public access, safety and long-term financial planning. The department will also support federal channel dredging and review possible updates to the city's harbor rules.

Together, these efforts affect the water beside our homes, access to public docks and the experience of everyone who uses the harbor. Residents can explore the department's public calls-for-service map or submit a concern through the My Newport Beach app. To reach the Harbor Department directly, call (949) 270-8159 or email Harbormaster Blank at pblank@newportbeachca.gov

GREETINGS ISLANDERS!

As we head into fall, I have some wonderful news and two big updates to share, both of which make it easier than ever to be part of BIIA.

Thanks to so many of you, BIIA membership has grown to nearly 750 members strong. That is not just a number. It is proof of how much this Island community shows up for itself, and it is what allows us to keep bringing you the concerts, the flowers, the parades, and everything else that makes Balboa Island feel like home.

WHAT YOUR MEMBERSHIP MAKES POSSIBLE

Every membership dollar goes straight back into the Island. This year alone, your support has helped fund our Summer Concert Series on the Green, ongoing beautification along Marine Avenue and Park Avenue, the flags and flowers on the Bridge, and the community traditions that bring neighbors together all year long:

Summer Concerts, Annual Parade, Pancake Breakfast, Holiday Home Tour, Tree Lighting Celebration, Santa & Snow Day, Classical Concerts, Holiday Decorations, Bridge Flags & Flowers, CERT Emergency Preparedness, BIIA sponsored security camera initiatives, Beautification and Improvements

NONE OF IT HAPPENS WITHOUT YOU

Which brings me to the two changes I want every member and future member to know about.

1 BIIA MEMBERSHIP IS GOING DIGITAL!

We are moving membership renewals and donations online. Starting now, you can join, renew, or give at biia.org/membership, where you can also make sure your contact information is current so you never miss an update.

Prefer paper and pen? Not a problem at all. The membership envelope right here in your Bridge Newsletter will always be a welcome way to join or renew. Choose whichever is easiest for you. We just want to make it simple.

2 YOUR MEMBERSHIP NOW RUNS ON YOUR SCHEDULE

Here is the other big change: you no longer have to wait for a new calendar year to join. You can now subscribe anytime throughout the year, and your membership anniversary begins on the date you sign up, renewing automatically one year later on that same date.

To go along with this, our new digital system will send you friendly reminder emails as your renewal date approaches, and every new or renewing member will be listed in four consecutive issues of Bridge Newsletter, so your support gets the recognition it deserves.

A BIG THANK YOU, AND A BIG ASK

Many of you joined or renewed back in November and December of 2025 for the 2026 membership year, and this fall marks our biggest membership push of the year as we work to bring those memberships forward. If that is you, watch for your renewal reminder, and please take a moment to renew online or by mail. If you have never joined, there has never been an easier time to start.

Balboa Island stays beautiful, safe, and full of life because neighbors choose to invest in it. Thank you for being part of that, and here is to nearly 750 members and counting.

Thank you for your continued support, Islanders!

Paul Fiore,
BIIA Membership Director
